

Our primary motto is to produce a graduate student who is liberal, logical, punctual, discipline, optimistic, responsible citizen, steeped with scientific and positive approach of life, free from any type of superstitions, has the ability to stand against any form of social inequality and injustice respecting the law of the land.

B.A. Programme Outcome:

Upon successful completion of this course it is expected that a student will be able to demonstrate:

- The ability to critically review the scholarly literature in his/her specialist area of study
- communication skills in both oral and written presentations to both a specialist and a non-specialist audience, including the ability to write and present original work in a publishable way
- The potential to pursue higher studies and learning in his/her area of study
- Insight into the breadth and diversity of his/her discipline and its place within the broader scope of the arts and social sciences.
- Understanding of the processes involved in the design, development and implementation of a relevant research project